

Dear Friends,

When I walk through the Library, I marvel at all of the people who gather in our space. We are a place where people come to connect with others.

We hear stories all the time about how the Library plays an important role in people's lives. For instance:

- the young mom who picks up her kids from preschool and meets her mother on our front porch for lunch before all three generations come inside to check out books
- the retiree who comes in to read the newspaper every day and chats with staff and fellow library patrons while he sips his coffee and catches up on the news
- the nannies who meet at story time each week with their preschool charges and have become fast friends
- the teen volunteers who laugh with the Children's Librarian while preparing crafts for tomorrow's program
- the lecture attendees who share personal stories that provide a deeper understanding of the topic, and insight into the experiences of those who live in Radnor Township.

While the people and circumstances change from day to day, the theme remains the same: the Library strengthens community through free programming and a public space where meaningful interactions can take place.

Your donation makes connections like these possible. Please support the Library with a contribution today. Our fiscal year closes at the end of December and we rely upon the philanthropic support of people like you to help us provide a space filled with resources, programs, and staff that help people connect.

To make a contribution, visit our secure online giving page at radnorlibrary.org/donate or return the enclosed envelope with your gift.

Your investment in the Library is an investment in this community. Thank you for your support!

We offer an antidote to loneliness and isolation through
free programming
and a public space
where small,
meaningful interactions with others strengthens
the social fabric of our community.
